Passage 1 : Read the following passage and answer the questions as required.

When a child is born, he can not speak. The only way he can communicate with others is making a few kinds of sounds like crying. By crying, he can express his feeling, he can say "I'm hungry, I'm tired, ...". But after a few months, the baby gets aware of his surrounding world. At this time he's a careful observer of everything around him, especially his parents. He begins to record what they do, what they say and how they act. He even records his parents' accent, tone of voice, or gestures. Then the baby starts to imitate them, that is he tries to copy them and act just like them. By imitating his parents, he'll be able to say his first words which are normally very simple.

As time passes, the child's speaking skill develops more and more, and when he gets older, he can choose proper words, gestures and expressions to say exactly what he wants.

49. The only means of communication for a newborn baby is
- his facial expression
 - crying
 - a lot of gestures
 - saying simple words

50. Which sentence is not correct ?

- The first child's words are very simple.
- Parents' gestures are also recorded by the baby
- The baby copies his parents' actions as soon as he is born
- As a child gets older, his language skills become more developed

51. The word "imitate" in line 6 means

- attract
- copy
- obey
- continue

Passage 2 : Read the following passage and answer the questions as required.

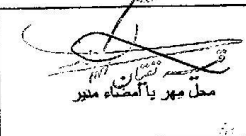

A greenhouse is a building for growing plants. It is usually made of glass or clear plastics. But do you know what the greenhouse effect is? Or how it can influence the Earth?

This problem is mainly caused by some gases like carbon dioxide. There is too much carbon dioxide in the air. When oil, gas, or coal burn, they create large amounts of CO₂.

We send five billion tons of carbon dioxide into the atmosphere every year. This carbon dioxide lets sunlight enter the Earth's atmosphere and heat the Earth. However, it does not let as much heat leave the atmosphere and enter space. It is like a blanket – a thick cloth used to keep us warm when we are sleep. The heat can pass through this blanket to warm the Earth, but stays there and can not go out through it again. The result is getting the Earth warmer and warmer. Scientists call this the greenhouse effect.

The word "it" in line 6 refers to a. heat b. carbon dioxide c. greenhouse d. the Earth
4	D. Reading Passage : Read the following passage and match each paragraph with one of the headings. Write the letters (A, B, C, D, E) in front of the numbers of the paragraphs. There is one extra heading. Headings (A) Use interesting and new words in your speech (B) Use an index card in your speech (C) The audience wants you to be successful (D) Use pictures to show specific points (E) The importance of pauses in speech 56. After you've written your speech, it can be helpful to put it on small index cards. They are easier to carry around, and because you don't want to spend your entire time on reading your notes, index cards will help you feel more willing to have a quick look at the cards when you open them. But don't use index cards as a support and try to pay attention to your audience as well. 57. An audience is made up of people who are not unlike you. They come to hear you because you have something important to say. Also, because they do not want their time to be wasted, it's in their best interest for you to succeed. 58. Pauses add variety to boring speeches. If you do not include pauses, you might as well sing your audience a bedtime lullaby, the effect will be the same. While pauses are always important, it is critical to have them in every occasion. 59. Your speech will get very boring if you repeatedly use the same words. So use interesting and different words and phrases and keep things new, and avoid using repetitive sentences very often in your speech.
