Rules and Traits of Dr. Shafieyan's Class

I had really a good term in Dr. Shafieyan's class which had many traits and rules. All students must attend to the class before the roll-call. If we were there late, Dr. Shafieyan put an absence sign for us. Furthermore, we had one or two minutes break among the class time. The other rule which was very difficult for us was we had to repeat sentences exactly after listening to the book's voices. Also, we should write an essay according to Dr. Shafieyan's explanations. We had an oral test, too. Each mispronunciation in the test, was equal decline of our mark. There were many traits that made Dr. Shafieyan's class different. For instance, Dr. Shafieyan was saying some new words, idioms, and proverbs in each session. Dr. Shafieyan was very careful about our pronunciation and he always was correcting our mistakes. Despite all of these traits and rules, I think we had a pretty good term in Dr. Shafieyan's class.
